"The Teeth of the Tiger"

An Arsene Lupin Story

By Maurice LeBlanc

Old man Forbes murdered! His young wife and her lover in the hands of the police. Arsene Lupin, arch-crook, accused and missing. No tangible clue but the marks of two rows of teeth.

Here in the "house of mystery," the trusted physician tying the dead man's niece to a chair, so that her "fool mouth" would be closed when he blew the voice to atoms. Then suddenly that cold grin voice—the voice of the "tiger"—and the click of the automatic!

David Powell, Myrtle Stedman, Marguerite Courtot and Charles Gerard in one of the greatest mystery stories ever screened.

The Alberta Sunshine Club met at the home of Mrs. C. H. Grobe on Wednesday afternoon. The report of the Sunshine sale of July 3rd was given, which proved very satisfactory. It presented the sum realized being $550 clear of all expenses. The most of this amount will be held in reserve and will be donated to the U. P. W. A. ladies' rest room when started. In behalf of Sunshine members and all parties interested, I wish to thank each and every one who helped to make this sale a success.—Mrs. Alta Mosley.

Something for the audience to puzzle its brains over is promised in "Teeth of the Tiger," the new Paramount-Artcraft picture which is coming to the Rex on Fair days next week. The story concerns the latest adventures of Arsene Lupin, the master-crook hero of Maurice LeBlanc's stories.

According to the plot the crook has turned detective for the time being and is instrumental in solving the mystery of the murder of a millionaire reclus.

Several persons are suspected of the crime, and the real guilty one is not revealed until the last moment. Thrills a-plenty, adventure and a pleasing love story are said to be included in the picture.

Beet Web Worms Stop a Train

The beet web worm has made its appearance in large numbers in the Cayley and Azure districts, according to advices received by C. F. R. officials. So numerous were they on Monday last that a C. P. R. freight train had to "double" up in order to get into Cayley, the rails and the wheels of the cars becoming so thickly coated with the shaggy mass that the train as originally made up was brought to a standstill.

It is stated that this worm does not do any damage to wheat or other cereals, but devours several kinds of weeds and all kinds of garden stuff.

In the international yacht race series the Shamrock won the first race by virtue of an accident to the Resolute, and won the second race on her superior sailing qualities. In the third race the Shamrock crossed the finish line first but lost the race on account of the time handicap against her owing to greater sail spread. This leaves the Shamrock with one race to win to lift the America's cup, and the Resolute with two races to win to hold it.

Alberta Will Appeal the Liquor Decision

That Attorney-General Boyle will appeal the judgment of the Gold Seal Liquor case in behalf of the province, was the official information given out in the following statement issued from his office.

"A judge of the supreme court in this province has held that the province did not have the jurisdiction to pass some of the acts passed last session providing for only those warehouses that have bonded warehouse licenses from the Dominion government being at liberty to engage in the inter-provincial liquor trade."

"The question was referred by the trial judge to the appellate division of the supreme court of Alberta, which consists of four judges, two of whom chose in favor of provincial jurisdiction and two against. The trial judge himself, however, decided against the jurisdiction of the province and this decision, of course, must be followed in this province unless reversed by the supreme court of Canada."

"I have taken steps to appeal the case to the supreme court but the appeal must be heard before next September."

"The act of last year containing a section giving the lieutenant governor in council power to make certain restrictions with respect to these warehouses and regions has been made which I hope will have a tendency to prevent bootlegging from these warehouses."

Liquor Plebiscite October 25

Ottawa, July 13.—The Canada Temperance Act, commonly called the Scott Act, will be voted upon on October 25 in the Yukon territory and the provinces of Alberta, Saskatchewan, Manitoba, Ontario, and Nova Scotia; and possibly one or two other provinces. The vote will be on the question of whether a provincial-wide Scott Act shall be adopted, and thus prohibit the importation or conveying of liquor from other countries or other provinces into the provinces adopting the act. It will be a definite "yes" or "no," and one question only. Alexander Smith, barrister and election authority of this city, points out that "the lists to be used will be the lists to be prepared under the new Dominion Election and Franchise Act, as this act has repealed the War Time Election Act and other federal election laws of unhappy memory."

Masonic Picnic

On Tuesday, July 27th, a bas-relief picnic of Masons and their families in District No. 6 comprising Okotoks, High River, Nanton, Staveley, Clareholm, and Grumby, will be held in High River park. Nineteen years ago, Daniel McTavish, or Big McTavish, as he was called, was a big, strong, well-settled man, who had settled in this spot with the determination of making it a home for himself and wife. The shadowy bushland appealed to him. He set to work with an axe and built a home. Shortly after it was finished a little McTavish was ushered into the world. Meanwhile, two other families had taken up claims nearby. These were Jim Peeler and Ander Declue, and with their wives came over to help name the baby.

Naming a baby in those old days was just as hard as it is in these. Each person had a particular name to fasten upon the new arrival. Peeler wanted to name him Wolfe, after a famous general he had heard of, but his wife protested on the grounds that the government was offering a bounty for wolves and somebody might get mixed up and "kill him off."

Mrs. Declue wanted to call the boy after some Bible hero. Moses, she thought, would be a good name. He looked just like Moses must have looked at his age, she said.

"I'll tell you how we'll decide," said Ander Declue, after the debate had lasted some three hours. "We all of us have a different name we want to put on the youngster. I move that we let Mac here write out their names on a piece of paper and we'll pin it to a tree and let the little chap decide for himself."

"How?" said the others.

"Well, after we've taken up the paper somebody'll hold a rifle and we'll let the baby pull the trigger. The name the ball comes nearest to we'll choose. What do you say?"

Everybody thought it was capital plan. The baby's mother held the rifle right and pressed the baby's finger on the trigger. The little bushwhacker did not so much as blink at the report.

The bullet bored one of the names through the letter O, and the name was B-O-Y.

"That's the one I picked on," grinned Declue. "So the baby is called Boy."

Declue came to the bushwhacker's place and took up homesteads. One, Bill Paisley, drifted in, from no body knew where, and started clearing near to Declue's place. He was a tall, angular young man, with blue eyes which laughed all the time, and a firm jaw with muscles that had been toughened by tobacco chewing. His hair was long and inclined to curl, and altogether he was a hearty, fresh, hot piece of manhood. He could swing an axe with any man on Bushwhacker's Place, and cut a Turkey's comb clean at eighty yards with his smooth-bore. He needed no other recommendations. The neighbors had a "bee" and helped Paisley up with his house. The bushwhacker's place here and "change" works, for it brought them together. And although on account of much talking, no man could have accomplished more alone than three could at a bee, there was no hurry, and as Peeler said "a good visit beat work all holiness anyway." Whiskey was plentiful and a jug of it could always be seen adorning a stump when a bee or "rainin'" was in progress. But because it was good, cheap and as welcome as the flowers of the woodland, nobody drank very much of it. Maybe it would be a "hore all" way "night-cap" after work was done or a "round-up" after the evening dance was over; for, be it known, no bee or raising was considered complete until the dance in the evening. Every Bushwhacker's home had a jug of whiskey in it—usually under the bed—a dog on the doorstep, and sheep, pigs and cattle in the yard. These barnyards had tall rails fence around them. In the winter months the wolves sometimes tried to break the fences, and have tried to dig beneath them. Then the dog would bark and the man would come out with his long brown rifle, and besides bear-break for breakfast next morning there would be a pet for the Bushwhacker.

As to the years passed, and the Bushwhackers lived their simple, happy lives and found life good. Little Bushwhackers were born, named, and when they were old enough to be taught to read and write, they were taught. As Peeler put it, "every child should know how to read and write and do sums," so the children of the bush were not allowed to grow up in ignorance.

Bill Paisley, also, took a hand in instructing the youngsters of Bushwhacker's Place. He taught the boys how to shoot and handle a rifle. It was quite necessary for one who took to shoot well, as bill and powder were so scarce. As Peeler put it, "every child should know how to read and write and do sums," so the children of the bush were not allowed to grow up in ignorance.

Improved Service
Increased and Improved Passenger Service in Government Lines

Increased and improved passenger service with a clear consolidation of government controlled lines in the West are reflected in the general change of train service on the Canadian National Railways, effective on Sunday, June 27th, as announced by Great Western, assistant passenger traffic manager, Winnipeg.

On many lines, now served by a tri-weekly service or a little better, the railway company will offer a daily service. In addition, different routing of main line trains is arranged. The change in service, in general, will come as a greater dispatch in train operation, a better maintenance of train schedule, the elimination, practically, of vexatious delays. Grain Growing Contests

To Decide Varieties of Grain That Will Be Recognized in Competitions

In conformity with the request of the federal government, the provincial Department of Agriculture has appointed a seed board for Saskatchewan, whose work will consist chiefly of holding standing crop contests, for the purpose of deciding what varieties of grain will be recognized in the competitions and at seed fairs. The federal government regulations provide for the payment to the producers of not more than two-thirds of the moneys awarded to the competitors on account of field crop competitions, seed fairs and provincial seed exhibitions, and combined seed and clean seed competitions.

Vital Statistics Low

Large Families Going Out of Fashion in Young Province

The province of Saskatchewan, although young and still very much in the pioneer stage, with mixed population gathering from all quarters of the globe and including hundreds of thousands from Central and Southern Europe, is not doing its duty by the nation, according to statistics of the Bureau of Vital Statistics. Large families are going out of fashion, he says, according to his records of 1917 and 1918. Registrations reveal that in the 21,695 families in the province in which a birth was registered in 1918, the average number of children to a family was 3.7. After making allowance for the death rate, the average number is below the standard required to maintain the population, and if immigration should cease, there would be an actual decrease in population.

FRIDAY, JULY 23, 1920

The C. P. R. has taken over the E. D. & B. C. railway and will put it into usable condition. The settlers in the north country rejoice greatly in the assurance of service on the Duvegan road.

One cannot but wonder what the inducement is that leads the foolhardy to try that occasional trip over Niagara Falls in a barrel. The latest person who made his first and last trip that way paid the usual price.

We have been compelled to consign to the waste basket a number of unsigned communications this week. Some of them we considered of doubtful propriety, but aside from that all publishers have found it a risky procedure to publish communications without a knowledge of who has tendered them.

It is a strange anomaly, but nevertheless true, that the supporters of the fight against importation of liquor in the coming plebiscite in Alberta are at a disadvantage because they have no organized opposition to combat. The coming battle in Alberta is directed against the individual who "boots" and the very large class who, while ostensibly working and voting for prohibition, keep liquor in their own cellars.

The railway employees of the United States have been awarded wage increases totalling $600,000,000,000, by the Railway Labor Board. No doubt this is a measure calculated to bring down the high cost of living. The increase was forced by threats of strike of all union men in the employ of the railways. Of course the men are not satisfied with this small award, and may strike anyway because the increase isn't a billion dollars. Canadian railway employees will naturally demand and get a like increase in wages.

The Calgary Herald states that a Granum reputation has waited upon Hon. C. R. Mitchell, with a view to having a central hospital placed at Granum. The Herald reporter says: "The Granum reputation, in stating their case, and asking for a hospital, represented the fact that Macleod and Claresholm, towns approximately 14 miles to the south and north of Granum, respectively, both had large municipal hospitals, where free treatment and medicine might be obtained, and in this way the territory of which Granum is the center was encroached upon, as justly from that district were forced to go to either of the neighboring towns when ill."

Now what we would like to know is just what brand of two per cent these Granum gentlemen had been imbibing previous to giving that interview. Whatever brand it may have been it sure made them see double and then some. The "fact" is that neither Claresholm or Macleod has a municipal hospital, though both would like to have one of these institutions.
